BLACK HILLS AREA DECORATIVE ARTISTS

Nelda's Notes

As most (if not all) of you know, Nelda has been in the hospital. She is home now.

She thanks everyone for the prayers and says she can still use them as she recuperates and the Dr gets her issues all figured out.

SHARING MEMORIES

Painting alone is fulfilling, fun and creative. But painting in a group is all that but so much more. How often, when painting alone, do you laugh out loud? How often does a nationally certified teacher come to your home to answer your questions and give you personalized instruction? How often do you have your meals prepared for you and you don't have to do the dishes, either? How often do you have a wide variety of snacks and treats? (Maybe I shouldn't have asked that last question.)

What a gathering of talent, kindness, sharing, good advice, newsy tidbits and shopping sources. There could be differing opinions on BHADA but I think we're great.....and humble.....but don't forget great. This didn't happen by chance. It took organizing ability, hard work, patience, negotiating and compromise over many years. (Right now, I don't know when the group was first established.) With these skills and talents mastered, perhaps we should be in charge of the country--but that would no doubt cut into our painting time too much.

Compliments to the seminar committee of Deb, Diane and Linda H. I am sure their to-do lists were long and the hours spent on the details were many. Most of us brought a treat and then sat down to paint. Thanks to our out-of-town painters who spent the week-end with us. Everyone brought smiles with them.

Lets let the group enthusiasm of seminar week-end inspire us to paint a memory box. If you choose to paint one of the characters Deb suggests every month, you might not laugh out loud as you did at the seminar but you will be guaranteed to have a big smile on your face.

So, the recipe for an upcoming project might be that sweet panda. Gather your painting materials and a small mirror and arrange them on your painting surface, which could be a great table, a desk, a tv tray or the top of the washing machine or dryer. Also set the mirror on the flat surface. Begin to basecoat then check the mirror--maybe no smile yet. Apply the pattern--still no smile? Continue on, step by step. By the time you put those white dots in the panda's eyes, take a few seconds to look at your complete piece then take a peek in your mirror. You will surely see a sweet, loving smile in that mirror.

We trust that the recipients of those memory boxes will have those same sweet smiles every time they see them.
